Quick-Start & Access Guide

A calm, organized system for family caregiving finances: who paid what, who should reimburse whom, recurring bills, an account/document map, a subscription review, a family decision log, and a simple monthly handoff any sibling can pick up.

What you received

- This Quick-Start & Access Guide (PDF)
- Access to your Google Sheets system (primary version)
- A bonus Excel (.xlsx) file, independently tested

Step 0 — Make Your Own Copy

This is a shared template. Always work from your own Google Sheets copy — never edit the original link directly. Click the link below (or paste it into your browser):

Using the Excel version instead? Open the included .xlsx file directly in Microsoft Excel — no Google account needed. It has been independently tested and calculates correctly.

Get Set Up in Under 5 Minutes

1 Add family members

Go to Parent & Family Setup — fill in the parent profile and list each family member helping out.

2 Add your bills

Go to Bills & Recurring Payments — list recurring bills and who's responsible for each.

3 Record expenses

Go to Expenses & Receipts — log each expense as it happens: who paid, and whether it's reimbursable.

4 Track reimbursements

Go to Family Contributions & Cost Sharing — record reimbursement payments as they come in. Status and balances update automatically.

5 Check your dashboard

Pending reimbursements, upcoming bills, and open items all update automatically from what you entered above.

Account & Document Map

The Accounts & Important Documents tab is a MAP, not a password vault — it records which institution, which document, where it's physically or digitally located, who's authorized, and who's responsible. It does not store your parent's actual credentials.

Privacy — Do NOT store in this spreadsheet:

Passwords, PINs, Social Security numbers, full bank account numbers, login credentials, or highly sensitive identity information. Use last-4-digits, a document location, or a responsible person's name instead. Medical diagnosis details should only be added if you personally choose to and understand the risk.

Subscriptions & Money Leak Review — a simple pass over recurring charges to flag what's unused or worth reconsidering. It does not guarantee savings — always confirm cancellation terms before acting.

Dashboard & Monthly Family Handoff

Dashboard — one screen showing monthly bills, expenses, pending reimbursements, family contributions, active recurring payments, and anything that needs attention (overdue bills, disputed expenses, open decisions, stale records).

Monthly Family Handoff — a printable summary so another sibling can take over the financial admin without a long explanation: what's due, what's outstanding, and this month's open decisions.

Compatibility — built primarily for Google Sheets (free, works on any computer, no software to install). A bonus Excel (.xlsx) version is included as well, independently tested to calculate correctly in Microsoft Excel.

Support — questions before or after you buy? Message Ledger & Lime directly through Etsy — happy to help.

Frequently Asked Questions

Does this handle reimbursements split across multiple family members?

Yes — this is the core feature. Record each expense once, then log each reimbursement payment as it comes in, from as many people as needed. Remaining balance updates automatically, including overpayments (shown as a credit).

Can more than one sibling use this?

Yes — it's built for coordinating between family members. The Monthly Family Handoff page is designed so anyone can pick up where another left off.

Does this store my parent's passwords or account numbers?

No, and it should not. It's a location/responsibility map — use last-4-digits and a storage location instead of full credentials.

Is this legal, tax, or medical advice?

No. This is an organizational and recordkeeping tool only. Always consult a qualified professional for legal, tax, benefits, or medical questions.

Does this work in Excel, not just Google Sheets?

Yes — a bonus Excel file is included and has been independently tested.

What if I mess something up?
